Presents:

Cannabis Liaison Training

IT'S HERE!!

The legalization of recreational cannabis in recent years has necessitated many new or amended laws, rules, and regulations for both the recreational and medicinal markets. So many changes have taken place in such a short period of time that it's a challenge for law enforcement and prosecutors to keep up, not only with the regulation of the legal markets, but also to distinguish it from the illegal ones.

Sponsored by the State of Maine Department of Administrative and Financial Services: Office of Cannabis Policy, this training is designed to educate law enforcement officers and prosecutors of the basic rules, regulations, and statutes regarding both legal and illegal cannabis in Maine. The goal is to provide tools for better investigation and prosecution of illicit cannabis incidents.

Topic areas of interest are:

- Overview of OCP Adult and Medical Use programs
- Overview of types of licenses, registrants, and regulations
- Overview of applicable statutes and rules
- Types of Cannabis Plants
- Types of Cannabis Products
- Investigation of complaints
- Common violations
- Cannabis investigation and prosecution resources

This one-day training is currently being developed by Dirigo Safety, LLC in partnership with the Maine Office of Cannabis Policy. It is going to be presented in various locations around Maine over the next 18 months including twice on Zoom. The training is free to Maine law enforcement or prosecutors.
